

SOCIALISM ON THE ROCKS

Socialism is headed for a tug-of-war in the U. S. A. Call it what you will—the new order, the welfare state, liberalism, etc.—socialism seems to have passed its easy objectives, and to have nothing but tough times ahead.

The essence of Socialism consists of taking property away from the numerically small group of those who have much of it, and doling it out to the large blocs of voters who have less of it.

The man who named socialism "redistribution of wealth" was quite correct. Except, of course, it should be "redistribution of other people's wealth."

Socialism has gone like a house afire in all nations where there has been a big group of impoverished persons—the "proletariat," as the Communists call them, meaning those who do not own property, and merely have the income of a job for their support. Practically all of Europe fell into that category, and so did much of the rest of the world.

The only time that socialism got more than a toe-hold in this country was when the Depression made the American people poverty-conscious. For a period of years, a complex was in evidence throughout this country by which those who had had the daylight scared out of them by the Depression took it as a personal insult and injury that here and there thrifty and far-sighted citizens had prepared themselves in advance for the hard times which the Depression brought.

There was an era of social tension, and a feeling that wealth was over-concentrated—two public reactions which make a sort of welcome mat for socialism. The New Deal, which was nothing more nor less than watered down socialism, came in and was accepted and made part of our political structure.

But this movement ran its course. Looking back, we can see President Roosevelt was a great deal smarter in perceiving that fact than President Truman has been. President Roosevelt, if you remember, when running for his fourth term in 1944, officially decided to discard (as he put it) "Dr. New Deal" and turn instead to "Dr. Win the War."

But President Truman has been trying, without success, to go right ahead with the New Deal ever since he has been in office. His first great pro-Socialist speech was his post-war address to Congress in September of 1945, and he has echoed it over and over again without letup ever since.

There is more to this ebbing of the tides that run towards socialism than that hackneyed expression, "every action has its reaction." The fact is our history in this respect has been different from that of other nations—one after another of these other countries reached the same point in the drift towards socialism which we occupied back in 1945; but instead of turning around as we did, they pushed steadily ahead the rest of the way into socialism and dictatorship.

What caused us to pull back then, and has held us back since? You won't find the answer in politics. Neither of the major parties, and none of the splinter parties, has actually dominated governmental policy in the past five years. Nor has there been any great leader such as sometimes arises. If nothing else proves these matters, the steady decline in voting totals should be enough by itself to do so.

Is the cause to be found in the field of economics? There is good reason to think so.

Maldistribution of wealth is to be named as either the main cause or the principal excuse for socialism. The Depression produced a maldistribution of wealth in this country—or convinced millions of citizens that wealth was unfairly distributed, which amounts to the same thing.

But much has happened since those days. The distribution of wealth in this nation today is far different from what it has ever been in this country or any other.

Take the single matter of housing, to show how this shifting has been brought about not by design but by quite

Methodist S. S. Class Have Jolly Christmas Party

A jolly Christmas party was staged on Wednesday evening when members of the Sunday School class, Bristol Methodist Church, taught by Mrs. Mary Mohr, held their annual party in the church social room.

The church choir served a delicious turkey dinner. The tables were decorated with red candles and Christmas greens. Favors were Christmas carols. Group singing of carols was enjoyed. With the singing of "Jingle Bells," "Santa" and "Mrs. Santa" arrived. "Santa" was impersonated by Mrs. Edwin Hallinger, and "Mrs. Santa," Mrs. Joseph Korz. Santa and Mrs. Santa conducted a quiz program during which gifts were exchanged.

"Pals" names were revealed, and new names drawn.

Mrs. Mohr received a gift from the class and she in turn gave gifts to the following class members: Mrs. Ballinger, Mrs. Korz, Mrs. J. S. Lynn, Mrs. Clement Smoyer, Mrs. Samuel Rogers, Mrs. Samuel Smith, Mrs. Paul Simpson, Mrs. Melvin Houser, Mrs. Harold Hunter, Mrs. Russell Booz, Mrs. Arthur Peterson, Mrs. Joseph Mancuso, Mrs. Harold Koch, Miss Dorothy Case and Miss Alice Smith.

AWARDS GIVEN TO EXHIBITORS

Trevose Horticulture Society Recognize Winners of Year

NAME THE OFFICERS

TREVOSE, Dec. 16—Awards were presented at the meeting of the Trevose Horticulture Society Tuesday evening.

Highlighting meetings of the Society during the past year was the holding of what were known as the "little flower shows." Following each show the exhibits were scored for the purpose of determining who would accumulate the greatest number of points throughout the year.

The society held its last meeting of the year Tuesday evening, and awards were presented the persons scoring the greatest number of points throughout the year.

First place was received by Mrs. Edward M. Linforth, Hulmeville; second, Mrs. S. B. Johnson, Bristol; and third, Mrs. Elsa Fort, Merchantville. They were presented copper plant containers covered with pewter.

Other high scorers and who were presented pottery included Mrs. Edward Potter, North Wales; Howard Clark, Jenkintown; Mrs. Edna Sharkey, Bristol, and Miss A. E. Paxson, Holmesburg.

First place winners in the little show Tuesday evening were as follows: Children's party table, Ethel Dungan, Bustleton; evergreens in container, Miss A. E. Paxson, Holmesburg; mantel arrangement, Mrs. S. B. Johnson, Bristol; holiday sprays and unusual house plants, Idella Jones, Feasterville, and Christmas terrarium, Mrs. Louis McConnell, Holland.

Edward Potter, North Wales, presented to the society a large Christmas tree, which was placed on the stage. This was trimmed with toys and lights while the meeting was in progress by the children of the school which holds its sessions in the community house.

Following a brief business session, 13 students at Trenton State Teachers' College, under the direction of Mrs. Carol M. Pitts, presented a program of Christmas music. Instead of singing the usual

Mrs. James H. Brooks Dies; Long A Resident Here

One who for many years had been a resident of Bristol, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Brooks, widow of James H. Brooks, died in the Mount Nursing Home here shortly before noon yesterday. Mrs. Brooks had been ill upon occasion over a period of months, but had been confined to bed for the past two weeks. She was moved to the nursing home last Sunday.

The deceased was a native of Philadelphia and was in her 79th year. She had lived most of her lifetime in Bristol. She was the daughter of the late John D. and Susan G. Detlofsen. She was a member of the Bristol Presbyterian church and at one time served as president of the Mothers' Association of the Bristol public schools.

The survivors are her son, Robert D. Brooks, with whom she made her home; and a brother Serrill D. Detlofsen.

Services will be held Monday afternoon at two o'clock at the funeral home of John C. Black, 314 Cedar street. The Rev. Edward G. Yeomans, pastor of the Presbyterian church will officiate. Burial will be in the Bristol cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home tomorrow evening.

TWO SENTENCES GIVEN TO GEAR

Trenton Man Convicted of Attacking An Oxford Valley Child

COURT LECTURES HIM

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 16—David E. Gear, 36, 733 Stuyvesant ave., Trenton, N. J., who was convicted on Tuesday of molesting a 19-year-old Oxford Valley girl, was given two sentences, one by President Judge Hiram H. Keller and the other by Judge Edward G. Blester, and a Bristol attorney informed the Court that Oxford Valley—Emilie community was interested in the outcome of the case.

Stepping up to the bar of the court, just before sentence was imposed, L. Louis Rubin, of Bristol, said: "Your Honor, the community in which this happened is aroused in seeing that proper sentence is meted out to the defendant and I have been asked to speak to the Court."

Asserting that he was sorry he couldn't give him a longer sentence than the act provided for, President Judge Keller, who said: "You are not fit to roam about in society," sentenced Gear to serve two years in the County Prison and pay the costs of prosecution.

Judge Edward G. Blester, who imposed sentence first, sentenced the defendant to serve the remainder of his term, which will be six months, because he violated his parole.

Because the defendant, who was paroled June 6, and has been in prison, here, since August 29, he will have only three more months to serve before his two-year stretch begins.

J. Leslie Kileoyne, Bristol counsel for the defendant, said: "I think the Court will agree that this defendant shows an abnormal bent sexually. I disagree, and so does the Court, with the psychiatric return made from Norristown State Hospital that there is nothing wrong mentally. I do not believe that he does these things of his

TWO MEN BEING QUESTIONED FOR ROBBERY ATTEMPT

One Caught in Storeroom of Bintliff's Gasoline Station

OTHER TAKEN LATER

Police Respond to Call and Crawl Through Window

Two men accused of breaking into and attempting to rob an Edgely gas station are being questioned by police today. One of the men was caught, according to the police, in the storeroom of the station while the other was later picked-up along Route 13.

Police identify the men as Clarence Barnes, 18, of Tennessee; and Robert Hunter, Atlanta, Georgia. Both are Negroes.

It was shortly after five o'clock this morning when Bristol police were called and informed that someone was trying to rob the Bintliff Brothers gas station at Edgely ave. and Route 13. Bristol police radio car manned by Officers Della and Spinelli, a rookie cop, went to the scene. In the meantime Police chief, Joseph Seader, Bristol Township, was called.

Bristol police upon arriving found a window broken at the Bintliff station and Officer Della crawled through this into the building. He found Barnes, he says, crouching behind some cartons in the storeroom.

Barnes was taken to Bristol police headquarters and questioned and implicated Hunter. Police then went in search of Hunter and found him walking along Route 13 about a half-mile from the scene, in the direction of Trenton. Hunter wore a heavy overcoat and was soaking wet. He told police he fell into a lake. It is believed that in his haste to leave, seeing the first police car to reach the scene, that he fell into the canal. He was arrested by Della and Seader.

Early this morning police said that the men admitted four gas station robberies, two of which are believed to be gas stations along the Roosevelt Boulevard.

Police say that Barnes is on parole from Trenton and that he was with a man named Williams, who on January 7, last year, broke into the Bintliff station.

Children of 3-M Employees To Be Guests at Party

A Christmas party for 305 children, aged one to thirteen, of employees of the Minnesota Mining and Mfg. Company is to be held this afternoon at 2:30 in the Edgely fire station.

"Movies" will be shown. There will be a program of magic by a magician, and "Santa" will distribute assorted gifts to the children.

Ice cream, cookies and candy will be served to the children and the parents attending will be served cake and coffee.

The affair is sponsored by the 3-M Club, of which Raymond Space, Yardville, N. J., is president. Those on the committee are: Raymond Space, Miss Barbara Virgulti, George Gensbauer, Miss Jacqueline Connelly, William Kline, Raymond Gallagher, Miss Mary Brennan, William Cummons, Mrs. Dorothy Banks, Walter Boditch, Robert Stutzman, Miss Hannah Bracken, Miss Lucille Capriotti, Miss Noreen Virgulti, Rose Kelly.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

The dismissal of Secretary of State Acheson was recommended by the Republican members of Congress, who adopted by large majorities a resolution emphasizing a lack of confidence in the top-ranking member of Mr. Truman's Cabinet.

Two additional National Guard divisions were called to Federal duty. A Defense Department spokesman indicated it was planned to increase the armed forces to 3,000,000 by June 30, 1951. The State Department was reported to be negotiating with Latin American nations regarding the possibility of bringing several hundred thousand foreign workers here if needed.

The House passed by a voice vote the $17,809,304,424 emergency defense bill and sent it to the Senate, whose subcommittees hoped to get the measure to the floor next week.

The National Association of Food Chains urged legislation to establish a national "Meat Authority" with power to determine the prices and distribution of all meat from slaughter house to retail shop.

The Army was considering a drastic proposal to dismiss switchmen engaged in a wildcat strike if they did not return to work within 24 hours or could not prove they were actually "sick" as claimed.

The special three-man United Nations committee named to attempt to arrange a cease-fire in Korea heard American proposals for ending the conflict. The General Assembly ended its 1950 session.

Man Being Held On Drunken Driving Charge

Joseph Elliot, of 650 Court "C," Bristol Terrace II, is being held by Bristol police for alleged drunken driving. Officers Chance and Chichelli took Elliot into custody last evening.

Elliot was operating a car in such a manner that he blocked traffic to and from the parking lot at Mill and Pond streets.

Elliot was taken to a local physician and, according to police, was said to be under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

PLAN CARD PARTY

There will be a card party held Monday evening at eight in the Bracken Post home, Radcliffe street, given by the auxiliary. The following prizes will be given: rug, basket of potatoes, set of dishes, one room of wallpaper, wall mirror, and a garbage can.

AINING ENEMIES

Publicity being given to manipulations in Washington and abroad which resulted in the sending of $1,000,000,000 worth of strategic war materials to Russia and Communist China this year comes too late to be of any benefit.

The government has finally taken note of this flow of vital materials to the nation's enemies and has ordered all shipments stopped. Public indignation forced this move.

Much of this material comes from factories rebuilt and retooled by ECA funds—that is, money supplied by American taxpayers.

Several years ago the government stopped the shipment of arms and munitions except on special permit. Presumably these were to go only to such countries as were being rearmaged against Russia. Commodities shipped under the Marshall Plan were to go only to such countries which had guaranteed they would not be passed on to communist nations.
These promises were not kept, and no attempt was made by Paul Hoffman, ECA administrator, to enforce them.

Western European nations have had long-standing trade agreements with Russia and its satellites, under which great quantities of commodities sent them by America almost immediately were used in trade with Russia.

As for China, British export firms in Hong Kong have been able to buy directly from American firms, and there has been a steady flow of war materials to China. For five years Washington has been feeding Russia, to the detriment of United States security, and the damage done will not be alleviated by this last-minute admission of guilt.

PURIFYING THE EXHAUST

The family bus may emit a different odor soon. According to Eugene Houdry, a petroleum scientist and inventor, automobiles need no longer emit dangerous carbon monoxide fumes. After years of study Houdry has perfected a "catalytic exhaust" designed to change poisonous carbon monoxide gas to beneficial carbon dioxide.

No longer will it be necessary to drive around in "sub-zero weather with windows down, wary of leaky floor boards. The driver who likes to take off in an aura of smoke will be unable to leave pedestrians wallowing in a choking cloud of gaseous poison.

The catalyst, made mainly of platinum, is for both leaded and unleaded gasolines. Combined with other elements, it is mixed with the exhaust to form harmless odorless vapors.

What's the world coming to?
Next they will probably add perfume to gasoline, so an odor pleasing to the nostrils will permeate the atmosphere when a jalopy takes on fuel.

English is said to be the despair of language students in other countries because of instances like his: You chop a tree down and then you chop it up.

Christmas Program Features Meeting of The Travel Club

A quintette of women rendering several selections proved very enjoyable at the meeting of the Travel club, here, yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Elwood P. Goslin presided over the abbreviated business meeting with Mrs. Michael A. Harbity, in charge of the secretary's report.

The affair, which was in the form of a Christmas party opened with Mrs. Russell DeLong, leading the group in singing the carol, "Hark the Herald Angels," following this a surprise vocal quintette consisting of Mrs. Russell DeLong, Mrs. Charles Bowen, Mrs. Thomas L. Doran, Mrs. Harry Neher, and Mrs. John Moyer favored with "Silent Night" and "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," a description of the story of each carol was given by Mrs. James S. Douglass, Mrs. Albert Dowden, Edgely, served as accompanist.

Mrs. Dora Colville's sixth grade class from Tullytown school presented "Scrooge's Christmas." The cast being announced by Thomas Roberts, a pupil, namely: Humbert Durante, as "Scrooge"; Michael Piroli, "Scrooge's nephew"; Barbara Forestal, the "Christmas Fairy"; Thomas Roberts, "Bob Cratchit"; Sharon Rosser, "Mrs. Cratchit"; Ella Trimble, "Martha"; Joan Forestal, substituting for Lois Robinson who was ill, "Belinda"; Ronald Grady, "Peter"; Loretta Pano, "Fanny"; Ralph Book, "Dick"; Wayne Stake, "Tiny Tim." Three scenes were depicted: First, Scrooge's sitting room on Christmas eve; Second, The Cratchit home on Christmas day; Third, Scrooge's sitting room on Christmas Eve.

"O Holy Night" was sung by Mrs. Thomas L. Doran. The quintette next sang Brahms' "Lullaby" and "Deck the Halls." There was a description of the story of each by Mrs. Douglass. The entire group sang: "O Little Town of Bethlehem," quintette—"The First Noel," entire group—"Adeste Fidelis" with a description by Mrs. Douglass.

The program closed by the singing of "Jingle Bells" with "Santa" impersonated by Mrs. Harry Neher, arriving.

Santa presented a gift to Mrs. Colville's class, also each child in the play received a large candy cane.

Refreshments of ice cream, Christmas cookies, coffee, nuts and candy were served the group by the hostesses, Mrs. Thomas Hawkes, Edgely and Mrs. Frank Lehman, here.

Thirty-five members of St. Ann's Ladies Auxiliary enjoyed a Christmas party at a restaurant in Philadelphia on Tuesday evening. The menu consisted of fruit cup, spaghetti and ravioli, turkey, dressing, lima beans, candied sweet potatoes, cranberry sauce, coffee, ice cream and cake. The auxiliary presented the president, Mrs. Angelo Nicols, with an orchid corsage. Each of the officers received a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Joseph Giampietro was in charge of arrangements. A bus was used for transportation.

Mrs. Mary Heaton, Washington street, spent four days last week with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Berry, Fort Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. David Martin and Mrs. Cora Vogt, Mattewan, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tremetiere, Trenton, N. J., were Sunday guests of Mrs. John Smith, Otter street.

Mrs. Randall Yeagle, Bath road, entertained members of her card club at a Christmas party Wednesday evening. Gifts were exchanged and cards played. Prizes were given to Mrs. William Bourne, Mrs. Horace Smith and Mrs. Mearle Schell. Refreshments were served amid Christmas decorations. The table centerpiece consisted of a sugar plum tree holding candy canes, and a miniature toy with the name of each guest present attached. A jolly time was had by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Burns, Philadelphia, were Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Elmer, Locust street. Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer were Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Neill and son Michael, Frankford.

Mrs. Elwood Henry, Rhawnhurst, spent a few days with her mother, Mrs. Mary Yeagle, Swain street. Mr. Henry was on a business trip to Chicago, Ill., during her visit here.

Mrs. George Landers and children, "Sandy" and "Chris," Mayfair, spent Wednesday in Bristol visiting relatives and friends.

BENSALEM WINS OVER SOUDERTON BY SCORE OF 47-42

SOUDERTON, Pa., Dec. 16—Bensalem Township high broke into the win column last night by winning a hard-fought tilt from Souderton High on the latter's court. Final score was 47-42.

The boys of Coach "Johnny" Messenger had to overcome a four-point half-time deficit to capture the verdict. They made a total of 19 double-deckers, three more than their opponents.

Souderton was kept in the game by the brilliant shooting of Ken Mase, a hold-over from last season. Mase made 16 of his team's points and accounted for seven of its field goals.

The Souderton team used a good zone defense for three quarters of the game but this was cracked wide open by the Owls in the final period which enabled them to cash in with the decision.

Alex Martin led the Bensalem team in scoring, cutting the cords for 15 points. His height enabled him to control the boards for the Bensalem team. Bob Whitfield produced 12 points while Walt Smith dropped in six of his 11 foul shots.

Bensalem plays at Southampton on Tuesday night and meets Lower Merion next Friday night.

ST. FRANCIS GRID TEAM IS HONORED WITH BANQUET

EDDINGTON, Dec. 16—The varsity and 135-lb. football teams of St. Francis Vocational School were honored at a banquet at which the guest speaker was Francis "Reds" Bagnell, star backfield ace of the University of Pennsylvania, this season. The affair was held in the St. Francis school cafeteria.

The trophy for winning the 135 lb. Lower Bucks County championship was received on behalf of the team by Francis "Ace" McGann with Brother Benilde doing the presentation. Brother Daniel presented Gus DeBello, gridiron officials. Both trophies were donated by Joseph Diamanti, of the Diamond Sporting Goods Store, Bristol.

Bagnell, who captained the Penn team this season and came within seven yards of breaking the Eastern Intercollegiate Record for yardage gained, gave a short talk to the boys and answered questions put forth by the players of the St. Francis team. He posed with several of the boys for pictures and spent the rest of the evening signing autographs.

It was the first championship won by the 135 lb. St. Francis team which won five straight games before losing its final contest of the season. The varsity team played its best games against West Catholic Jayvees, Gloucester Catholic High, and Bordentown Manual Training School.

Dear Sirs:

I feel I must take time out to congratulate you on your store's Santa Claus. His appearance is perfect and I find it difficult to express my pleasure. My son is six years old and I'll admit that I was dubious as to what his reaction would be this year. I was so pleased that I have recommended him, and your store, to all my friends, feeling that they couldn't do any better either in or out of town. Thank you.

Sincerely

LOUISE MATOSKO (Mrs. R. K.)

Thank you, Mrs. Matosko, and to all the others for your nice compliments. Like everyone, we too, are pleased when our efforts have been noticed.

Socialism On The Rocks

accidental factors. Ever since the War, we have had rent control laws. These have been intended, on the face of it, to provide plenty of rentable houses at low prices. But they have done nothing of the sort. Rented houses are probably in much smaller percentage today than they have been for a century.

The rent laws have compelled thousands upon thousands of citizens who would never have done so ordinarily, to go into the market and buy their own homes. Cheap money, plus veterans assistance programs, have helped them do so.

True, many actually own only a trifling part of the dwelling they live in — probably in many cases, their equity still lags behind the depreciation, so that the ownership is technically a minus quantity. But regardless of that, the family has the deed, and that's what counts.

There is no getting away from it, the man who owns his home has a different point of view from the man who is just a tenant. He automatically becomes more conservative — he starts weighing public questions, not in abstract terms, but on the specific basis of what they will do to the value of his real estate. If you think that this isn't a political factor of vast importance, remember how the demand for zoning and districting laws has mounted in the last few years.

What is true of housing is true also of other forms of investment or savings. It is true of insurance, of bank accounts, of government bonds. It is true of stocks and bonds and similar types of investment securities. Never before in all history have these been more widely held.

And never before, likewise, have they produced a more widespread pressure against radicalism and socialism.

There is another type of equity which is different from any of those listed above. In this country it has no legal standing, despite the fact that it carries strong implications of ownership. That equity is a job. Particularly in this state of semi-ownership conspicuous with reference to industrial jobs. Under the present working agreements between labor and management, an employee in good standing has a title to his job which, were it transferable, would cause it to have a huge capital value.

More working people today than ever before hold jobs under approximately those conditions—jobs which are so valuable that they deserve to be, and are, conserved very carefully by millions of the individuals who hold them.

Moreover, these job holders are drawing many times more out of the earnings of industry than do the stockholders of the plants where they work. One would expect a conservative point of view from a shareholder—why is it not equally logical from an employee who has almost a vested interest in his position, and whose share of the earnings actually take precedence over those of the owners?

The forces in our economy which are driving us steadily away from giveaways and socialism are not obvious until they are sought for—nevertheless they are extremely powerful.

Until the present situation changes, they furnish a good reason for arguing that socialism has spread about as far as it is going to, on the American homefront—and also that resistance to inflation is bound to grow rapidly during coming months.

conscious violation.

The defendant pleaded guilty to assault and battery in September, 1949, when he admitted pushing an old lady down on a cot in her Bristol township home after posing as an electric wire inspector.

A former Morrisville fireman and Pennsylvania Railroad freight employee, the defendant was out on probation less than two months when he molested a 10-year-old girl who was riding a bicycle on the Emille-Tullytown roads.

Chief County Detective Fred H. Kohler was assisted in investigating the crime by Bristol Township Chief of Police Joseph O. Seader.

When he was paroled Judge Biester directed that the defendant stay out of Bucks county, but he obtained employment at a plant near Bristol, where he was employed about a month prior to his arrest.

BRISTOL COURT LEAGUE TO OPEN

The Bristol Basketball League opens its 1950-51 season tomorrow afternoon with two games scheduled on the Rohm & Haas floor. In the initial tilt, starting at two o'clock, the Franklin team will play Rohm & Haas, while in the second encounter, Lucisano Brothers, of Tullytown, plays the Hibernians.

In the Rohm & Haas lineup will be such players as Nick Spadaccini, formerly of Rider College; Augie Everitt, one of the leading scorers of the loop for several seasons; "Chuck" Klein, formerly of Langhorne High; "Jim" Egli, coach of Neshaminy High; and Don Doheny, former Fallsington High star. The chemical mixers also signed Pat Carnevale during the week.

Norman White, who played with Lucisano last season, will be wearing an A. O. H. uniform tomorrow to team up with "Bill" Burr and "Charlie" Simmons, of Burlington, and Tom Donnelly. The Hibs have also signed two youngsters who formerly played with the Bristol Celtics, John Wilkins and Joe Mulligan.

Lucisano Brothers is sticking to practically the same lineup of last season with "Johnny" Paone, who played with Pennsbury last season, being an addition. Frank Thropp, formerly of Rutgers University, will jump center for the Tullytown team with the Lynch twins, Roy and Gene, being the forwards. Dick Anderson and Mickey Stradling will also be in the Lucisano lineup.

Wednesday night, Cornwells Boys Club will make its debut against the Proby team, while Fifth Ward clashes with the Hibernians.

PEGGY'S JEWELS

NEW YORK. — (INS) — An ex-Broadway showgirl has been dubbed the "Diamond Jim Brady" of modern times. That title was given to Peggy Hopkins Joyce recently by Jack Werst, internationally-known gem authority and diamond dealer. Werst says Peggy owns more than $7,000,000 worth of diamonds, including one sparkler appraised at $1,250,000.
